

LANG PILOTS HELD TO VICTORY

ROSS ENTRY HOME FIVE LENGTHS IN FRONT OF PARADE

Butwell's Finish Astride Superlative Furnishes Crowd With Thrill.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 8.—Ideal racing conditions, both under foot and overhead, served to bring out another capacity crowd at Pimlico, this afternoon, to witness the running of the Pimlico Graded Handicaps. Of the seven events down for decision, but one was over a distance or ground, the others being for juveniles at four furlongs and sprinters who fancy a six-furlong out.

In the Grade-A Handicap, Comdr. J. K. L. Ross' speedy Hildur, with Lang up, suffered considerable early inferences, but once getting clear practically topped his opposition and was running all over the ton of horses in the stretch run. His score was the easiest of the five, five lengths separating him from his nearest opponent, the Seagram stable's Golden Squire.

One of the most spectacular finishes came with the running of the Class B division. Mesinas, another Ross color, had been made the favorite in the speculation, and flattered his supporters by remaining in a contending position until the field was straightened out after passing the top of the stretch.

Superlative Finishes Strong. James Arthur's Sagamore, had displayed a lot of early foot and cut out the pace to the three-quarter pole. At his point, Jimmy Butwell, astride Walter J. Salmon's Superlative, came from the back and overtook the leaders, with a rush passed under the wire a length and a half to the good of the Ross entry.

In Class C, the speculators had entirely overlooked F. Amberg's Clark's Bromelia, they centering their attention upon the Seagram stable's Lady Meave. When post time came the Canadian racer had been made a favorite, and she was showing such excellent form of late, was quoted at 11 to 2.

Bromelia soon assumed command at the start and, Romanelli, never found it necessary to urge the Clark mare, as she won under restraint a full length ahead of the outsider, Mayor House.

D. C. Entry Falls Backers. Bernard Harding's 3-year-old filly, E. J. Holmes, again was forced to take a sound thrashing. The Washington-owned juvenile had been tipped as a real good thing, but at no time during the running was she ever a serious contender. The dash, which was at four furlongs, brought to the post but seven and on the strength of her previous effort the Beas filly was considered as good as dead, although St. Valentine was not without supporters.

A. H. Morris' Jolly, with the unbroken Holmes up, broke his field by three lengths and never headed. Butwell made a never to overtake the flying leader in the last sixteenth, but Jolly had in reserve to stall off the challenge and finished a bare nose out in front.

The jumping event went to Infidel II. The Moore fencer was rated off his pace, but when Jones decided to make his move, he never forged to the front and held the balance of the field safe for the rest of the route. Taking the twelfth fence, Navy Haven went down and Royal Green fell over him. Neither horse nor jockey suffered from the spill.

New Athletic Federation Preakness Should OUTCLASS "DERBY" COMING SATURDAY

The National American Athletic Federation became a reality yesterday at a meeting held at the American Red Cross of delegates of 17 organizations, promoting and supervising athletic competition and recreation of 7,000,000 persons in the United States.

The federation aims to create and maintain in the United States a permanent organization, representative of amateur athletics and of organizations devoted thereto; to establish and maintain the highest ideal of amateur sport in the United States; to promote the development of physical education; to encourage the standardization of the rules of all amateur games and competition and to encourage the participation of this country in the international Olympic games.

These organizations were represented by the National Association of Interior, National Collegiate Association, Intercollegiate Amateur Association of America, A. A. U. Physical Education, Y. M. C. A., M. C. A., C. A. Physical Education Association of America, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Playground Association, National Rifle, Tennis and Golf associations and the National Gymnastic Club.

President Harding was elected honorary president. Secretary of War Denby, Secretary of War Weeks and Col. Robert M. Thompson, formerly president of the American Olympic committee, were named honorary vice presidents.

Other officers elected were: Col. Henry Breckenridge, former Assistant Secretary of War, president; J. F. Byers, president of the U. S. Golf Association, vice president; Herbert L. Pratt, New York, treasurer; Elwood R. Brown, secretary; Frederick W. Rubien, former president of the A. A. U. and Thomas McCabe, represented the A. A. U. as "observers." They were the only delegates who did not vote for the adoption of the constitution, stating that they would first have to make a report of what took place at the conference, to the A. A. U. officials at the latter's annual session.

In case the A. A. U. becomes affiliated with the new federation, the list of officers will include William Prout, of Boston, president of the A. A. U.

The executive committee is composed of Dr. John Brown, of the Y. M. C. A.; Dwight F. Davis, of the United States Lawn Tennis Association; Dr. George F. Fisher, of the Boy Scouts of America; William C. C. A. Physical Education Association; Dudley C. Reid, of the American Physical Education Association; Col. Walt C. Johnson, of the U. S. Army and Comdr. R. Train, of the United States Navy.

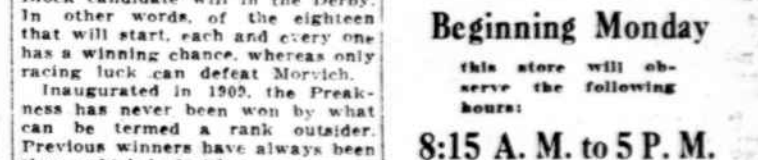

The Old Grad Speaks.

"The older graduate takes the defeat of his university more seriously than the undergraduate, who may feel just as keen a disappointment for a brief period, but who recovers more quickly."—College exchange.

Where youth still knows its land of plenty You live where hopes and dreams are And you are only one and twenty. Where nothing bothers very long. And you are only one and twenty. Or turn your youthful backs on woe. Have oh, so many more tomorrows. The least elastic part of view. We say: "We used to beat those fellows—Why can't you win a game or two?"

Fond hope is stronger when it's vernal. And for revenge you have years; Bright announcements come to you. On which some day, to vent your cheers. But drifting on, as gray time mellow. The least elastic part of view. We say: "We used to beat those fellows—Why can't you win a game or two?"

We brood too much on our own failures. Well, grating this may be the truth. But you are only one and twenty. You are the dreams that keep appearing. You are the dreams that keep appearing. You are the dreams that keep appearing. You are the dreams that keep appearing.

Beginning Monday this store will observe the following hours: 8:15 A. M. to 5 P. M.

In accordance with the expressed sentiment for day—night saving.
